

A MEETING OF THE BRAVES.

Powhatan Club Elected Officers Last Evening for the Ensuing Year.

SPEECHES FROM THE CANDIDATES.

All of Whom Expressed Themselves as Ready and Willing to Support a Bill Providing for Separate Cars.

The members of the Powhatan Club had a regular old-time Democratic love feast at their wigwam on north Eighth street last evening. The meeting was a special one to hold the annual election of officers, and besides invitations had been issued to the various candidates for the House of Delegates to present themselves to the Powhatan Braves.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the members of the club were called to order by Second Vice-President James F. Flournoy. The gathering was a large and representative one.

A communication was presented from the Old Dominion Club endorsing the resolutions passed recently by the Powhatan Club in reference to separate cars for colored people, and the employment of white teachers in the colored schools. The club assured the Powhatan Braves of their hearty co-operation in regard to the matter. The communication was received and ordered to be placed on the minutes.

THE OFFICERS.—The members were then declared to be in order, and Colonel John Bell Bigger, in eloquent language, nominated Mr. Preston Belvin, the president of the club, for another term.

Squire Jones, of Sugar Bottom, seconded the nomination, and moved that he be elected by acclamation.

Mr. Belvin explained that he had tried to serve the club for three terms as well as he could. He thought that a man outworn his usefulness, and owing to the great amount of business he was unable to give the club the time which he desired to give. He therefore hoped that some member would be elected who could give better attention to the welfare of the club.

His protest, however, was of no avail, for he was re-elected by acclamation.

After being led to the chair by a committee consisting of Colonel John Bell Bigger, Squire Jones and Dr. Farrington, Mr. Belvin made a short speech, and then the members for the honor bestowed upon him.

Mr. Jefferson Wallace nominated Mr. D. C. Richardson, of Marshall ward, the present incumbent, for the office of first vice-president. He was re-elected by acclamation.

The same action was taken in regard to Mr. James F. Flournoy of Jefferson ward, the second vice-president, who was re-nominated by Mr. Cohen.

Squire Jones, of Sugar Bottom, re-nominated Mr. James F. Flournoy for the office of third vice-president, who was also elected by acclamation.

When the nomination of a representative of Monroe ward for fourth vice-president was reached, Mr. Charles E. Wingo, the present incumbent, was recognized by the club.

Mr. Wingo stated that he had the honor of filling the office two or three terms, but considered a little rotation desirable, and he therefore nominated Mr. W. Fred Pleasant for the office. The nominee was elected by acclamation.

Mr. John S. Harwood next nominated Mr. B. A. Jacob, of Clay ward, for re-election as fifth vice-president.

CLAY WARD.—Sergeant-at-Arms Thomas B. Hicks placed in nomination for that office Mr. John S. Harwood. The latter declined the nomination by stating that he had only lived in Clay ward one week, and did not think that he deserved to represent that ward.

Mr. Jacob was then re-elected by acclamation. Mr. James F. Flournoy nominated Captain Charles Bigger, of Jackson ward, for sixth vice-president, and he was re-elected by acclamation.

Mr. Charles E. Wingo nominated Mr. G. Roderick, of Tenser, the present incumbent, for the office of secretary, who was also re-elected by acclamation.

When called upon to make a speech Mr. Roderick said that he did not want to detain the members, for he knew his colleague from Sugar Bottom was anxious to tell the Braves why they should send him to the Legislature.

Major Ellyson nominated Mr. Julius A. Hobson for the important office of treasurer, and at his suggestion he was elected by acclamation.

Instead of making a speech, Mr. Hobson requested all members in arrears to come to the front and pay their dues.

Mr. R. R. Knudsen next nominated Mr. Thomas B. Hicks for the office of sergeant-at-arms, who was re-elected by acclamation.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.—President Belvin announced that he would appoint the members of the executive committee and of the several standing committees during the recess. He then invited the several candidates for the House of Delegates to address the club.

However, before this was done, Colonel Bigger, on behalf of the auditing committee, consisting of Messrs. Bigger, Wilks and Smith, presented a report, which stated that the features in the treasurer's report of September 1st had been found to be correct.

The report was received and ordered to be spread on the minutes.

Mr. Jefferson then presented the following resolution which was adopted almost unanimously:

Resolved, That all candidates for the Democratic nomination for House of Delegates be requested to announce publicly whether, if nominated and elected, they will favor the passage by the State Legislature of an act requiring all railway and street car companies to set aside separate cars for the use of colored persons.

THE MAYOR'S IDEAS.—When the candidates for the Legislature were called for, President Belvin stated that he thought it best to first hear from Mayor Ellyson, the chairman of the State Committee.

Mayor Ellyson, in a very neat and concise speech, pointed out the importance of selecting good candidates. He showed that everywhere in the State the people were considering the question how to secure the best candidates. The people of Richmond should select as their representatives men who were competent, faithful and experienced in legislation. It was very gratifying to see so many worthy citizens nominated for this high honor, for he considered it an honor to represent the people anywhere.

The selection should be made without feeling, and if the people acted wisely the city of Richmond would next winter exercise an influence in the Legislature that she had never done before. The men needed were not only to be wise, but they should also be able to cope successfully in the arena of debate, to guide in the councils of the committees, and by their social influence to become a power in that body. As to who should go to the House of Delegates, it would not be for him to say, as chairman of the State committee. While there were many worthy men ready to go, there were only four places to be filled.

Richmond had reached a point in her history for which she had long been striving, and she had to be content with the growth and prosperity of this city, which nothing could advance more than wise legislation, and he hoped that a wise selection would be made.

CAPTAIN STRATTON.—Captain J. Taylor Stratton was the first candidate called upon. He said that, as stated by the presiding officer, he was a candidate for nomination. He had never hesitated on any occasion to state his position clearly and unmistakably. He had held his position in the common Council and in the School Board that he stood by the white man's party, and he would state now that he heartily supported the resolution in regard to the colored line, as given by the club, and that, if elected, he would do all in his power to maintain that position.

It was often stated that there existed an antagonism between the city members of the Legislature and the rural representatives. Why this was so could not be said. He had visited all parts of the State, and everywhere he had met with Virginia's sons who were in love with their capital city. The speaker then referred to his public record while a member and member of the common Council for nearly four years, and made his promise which he would do as a member of the Legislature in the light of this record.

CAPTAIN ENGLISH.—Captain Joseph J. English was the next speaker. He told the club that for fifteen years he had sat in the City Council and for four years he had been a member of the Legislature, while for fifty-two years he had been in business in the city of Richmond. Twice he had had the honor to nominate Mr. H. K. Ellyson for Mayor, and he fully indorsed all that the present Mayor had said.

There was no one who could out-talk him, and no one would work more in the interest of this city and of the State of Virginia. He was in favor of restricting the State, in favor of giving a silver dollar vote as much as a gold dollar and in favor of the separation of the white and colored races.

Mr. John S. Harwood stated that Mr. R. W. Powers had just arrived, and he requested that that gentleman be invited to address the club.

MR. POWERS.—Mr. Powers stepped forward, and after the resolution had been read to him, in a plain and businesslike manner, explained his views. He congratulated himself that his first public appearance was to be before such an influential body of Democratic workers as the Powhatan Club. All his interests, he said, were concerned in the city of Richmond, where he had begun life with a $50 position, and where he had been in business ever since. He was ready to work and to die for the interests of the city, and he claimed that if any subject, and the necessary time to study it, was given him, he could present it to the club in a way to be understood by any one of common sense. He asked the members of the club and the citizens at large at this time to support him, because the sense of duty had called him to the front. He had never thought of the office until the representatives of forty of the most prominent business houses of this city had asked him to become a candidate.

He did not seek the office, but he could say that every interest, family and business, in the city of Richmond, was in his hands. Here he had toiled and, he dared to say, secured himself a name for a candidate. While he had announced himself a candidate, he could fearlessly say that he had no axe to grind, no bill to propose, and no office to make. He had no friends to reward and there were no acts in his mind which he was anxious to advocate. He did not expect to take any active part in the canvass, for that did not suit him. He had a very high opinion of the office which he thought should seek the man. He would not go from shop to shop to secure votes.

THE RESOLUTION.—In regard to the resolution he could only say that he thought well of it, but he did not like to commit himself, and he was honest and square in his dealings.

At this point Mr. Powers asked to have the resolution read again, and when this was done he stated, without hesitancy, that he thought he could not vote for the proposition. Only on the previous day he had come down town on a Clay-street car, and there he had seen ladies and gentlemen stand up while the colored people held all the seats. He thought that it was time to reserve separate cars for the colored race.

A TRUE BILL AGAINST DASHIELL.

Indicted Yesterday by the Grand Jury—Summoned Before Other Courts.

The grand jury for the September term was in session yesterday and elected Mr. Charles P. Stokes foreman. The following true bills of indictment were presented to Judge S. B. Witt:

For felonies—W. S. Dashiell, Edward Foster alias Edward Williams, John Johnson alias Harris, Benjamin Coleman (2), James Braxton (3), John W. Johnson, Robert Harvey, F. de Conin, Simon Taylor, Willie Bowles, Charles H. Handolph, Hester Fowler, Nettie Bibb, Richard Simmons, Robert Davis, George Lewis alias George Chamberlayne, Sherman Fountain, R. J. Murray, William Henry Epps, John Riddick, W. H. Coleman, Joseph Riddick, Charles Dandridge, Robert Washington, George Shirley, Charles Angus, Thomas J. Pettit (2), John Bryant and H. B. Macklin.

For misdemeanors—John O'Dwyer, James Williams, Elmore Cousins, G. W. Beasley, George Bell, Henry Shields and Alfred Lee. The grand jury will again sit to-day, and it is expected that the trial of the numerous charges to be laid before them.

John W. Johnson, who was charged with shooting and wounding J. B. Davenport, his son-in-law, was by Judge Witt admitted to bail in the sum of $10,000.

At to-day's session of the hustings court the time will be fixed for the trial of the indictments found yesterday, and it is expected that one of the first cases to be tried will be that against Mr. W. S. Dashiell, provided he comes on both sides are ready. The trial of this case is creating a great deal of interest.

A day or two after his first arrest Captain John S. Wise sent a message of sympathy, and offered his services. Judge W. Crump also sent a message of sympathy, and offered his sympathy and assistance as counsel. The latter will no doubt take an active part in the defense with Captain John S. Wise, Mr. Hill Carter, Captain Sol. Cutchins and Mr. Thomas R. L. Wise, who also tendered their services.

Probably never before has it happened in the city of Richmond that one citizen had to appear on the same day in every court of this city. Mr. Dashiell's case was also considered by the grand jury. Mr. Dashiell was summoned to the circuit court in a civil matter, and he also had to appear in the police court to answer a complaint of his premises being kept in improper condition. He also answered the complaints in two cases.

Mr. A. Ludwig has instituted suit against W. S. Dashiell and J. L. Ludwig, and also separately against Mr. Dashiell. The plaintiff is the owner of the premises, and the latter is the party who charges Dashiell with forging four negotiable notes. In neither case has the bill yet been filed. Mr. Dashiell is administrator of the estate of William Ludwig, deceased, whose brothers and heirs are the Messrs. Ludwig now in suit.

Presumably J. L. Ludwig will claim that he has not received as much money as has apparently been paid J. L. Ludwig, and he sues the latter and Mr. Dashiell to obtain what he believes to be due him. His counsel is Mr. J. L. W. Anderson, and the plaintiff has thirty days to file his bill.

On Saturday evening papers were served on Mr. Dashiell in the suit in which he and J. L. Ludwig are co-defendants, while the papers in the other suit were served only yesterday morning.

Mr. Dashiell, while talking to some of his friends about his difficulties yesterday, remarked that he had nothing else to do at present than to answer summonses from the courts during the week and attend church on Sunday.

POLICE BOARD MET.—The Board of Police Commissioners held a meeting in Major Fox's office yesterday afternoon. W. T. Foster, one of Richmond's first policemen, was heard on a charge brought against him by Spencer Lee. The latter is a negro, well known in the police court, and charged Officer Foster with dragging him through the streets without cause. As soon as Mr. Foster was heard he was honorably discharged.

The case of Officer L. A. Saunders, charged with conduct unbecoming a policeman by Mr. M. J. Daly, was continued until the next meeting of the board.

Officer W. H. Fox was fined $25 for neglect of duty. He could not be found a few evenings since by the sergeant when the latter was making his rounds.

Ambulance Calls.—The ambulance was called to Twelfth and Main streets yesterday morning at 6 o'clock to attend a man who had a fit. The man recovered before the ambulance arrived.

At 2:10 P. M. to the Chesapeake and Ohio roundhouse to attend a white man who was suffering with a wound over one of his eyes. He was attended to by the ambulance surgeon.

At 3:45 P. M. to the Richmond Locomotive and Machine Works to attend two white men who had hurt their fingers. The wounds were treated and the men left at the shops.

TEN MILLION DOLLAR TRUST.

A Gigantic Lumber Combine to be Formed in Norfolk To-Day.

NAMES OF THOSE WHO WILL COMPOSE IT.

A Circular Issued in Which It is Stated that the Organization is for the Purpose of Advancing Prices.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 21.—[Special.]—There will assemble in this city to-morrow, at 10:30 A. M., one of the most important meetings ever held in Norfolk. It is called for the purpose of consolidating the individual manufacturers of North Carolina pine-lumber into a stock company with an estimated capital of $10,000,000. This scheme has been quietly working for several months, and when formed will be a gigantic trust organized for the purpose of controlling the lumber trade.

It was put on foot early in the summer by the issuing of a circular from the office of the Philadelphia Trust Company, which is the headquarters of the trust. It was sent to J. L. Roper, president, and John Barker, secretary, inviting leading manufacturers to a meeting to be held for the purpose of drawing up plans. At first it was difficult to secure cooperation. Manufacturers were slow to take hold of a scheme of which they knew little, and the first meeting in this city was but a stilted attendance. Later it was decided to send out a leading lumberman to feel the pulse of the manufacturers.

This important work Mr. Frank W. Knight of Philadelphia was selected to do. He visited the leading manufacturers and his work speaks for itself. Under his persuasive eloquence their fears were removed and in a few weeks he reported to the Norfolk office that a large percentage of the dressed lumber output had signed all necessary documents and would join the combination.

TO ADVANCE PRICES.—On the 25th of September another circular was issued, and among other things it says: "For your information we give a list of those who are willing to subscribe to the combination. They are John W. Johnson and Thomas W. Smith, Washington, D. C.; Mulhern & Dale, Otto Duker & Co., E. W. Harmsen & Son, The Tuna Lumber Company, G. F. Sloan & Brother, George C. Fryer, to name a few. J. L. Roper, Rosch & Brother, Wilmington, N. C.; John L. Roper Lumber Company, Norfolk, Va.; Southern Lumber Company, C. B. Leet & Co., Suffolk, Va.; J. Stewart, Knight & Co., Albemarle Lumber Company, Martinsburg, W. Va.; Goldboro Lumber Company, Newse Lumber Company, Goldboro, N. C.; Stinson Lumber Company, C. I. Schalkie, Newberne, N. C.; Pioneer Lumber Co., Albemarle, N. C.; O. C. D. W. Alderman & Co., Albemarle, N. C."

The circular further says it is apparent from the above list that the scheme is an assured success, and a stock company can now be formed without any difficulty. The importance of the vast business in dressed lumber manufacturers in Virginia and the Carolina ought to stir us up to the necessity of protection.

MEMBERS OF THE COMBINE.—Resulting, as we hope will, in getting an advance upon the low prices which have been hitherto obtained; it is only a question of a few years at the present rate of production when this important business will be a matter of the past, and unless something is done to combine and unite to get all the money out of it possible in time to come many will regret not taking a deep interest in the movement. We now call a meeting to be held at the office of John L. Roper Lumber Company, Norfolk, Va., Tuesday, September 22nd, at 10 o'clock. We hope to have many concerns represented, and without necessity of doing so at present. This circular was addressed to John Barker, secretary of the Carolina association, an organization, which has a membership of about one hundred, and it is understood that they will join. At once prices will be advanced, and a reduction of the output of this combination will secure a large number of mills to go out of operation, and several thousand laborers will be seeking work in the next few weeks.

THE WINSTONS HAVE GONE.—Richmonds Will Play in North Carolina This Week—Other Notes.

The Winstons left for their home in North Carolina Sunday evening. It was expected that they would go to Lynchburg and play two of the championship games there, but Managers Donati and Batty finally decided that the six games yet to be played should take place in Winston. The Winstons will leave this place next Wednesday evening, playing Thursday, Friday and Saturday and three days of next week.

Kelly, the Winstons' new pitcher, arrived in the city yesterday from Washington. He said that the telegram that was sent him was evidently misinterpreted, the first one received by him being yesterday morning. He has played here before. In one of the games he gave the opposing team only five base hits.

The game of ball which was played yesterday on Twelfth street field was won by a score of 26 to 5 in favor of the Hobbs. Cullen and Preston formed the battery for the Hobbs and Grigg and Deane for Grigg's nine. The features of the game were the heavy batting of Branch and Wilton.

Successfully Done.—The last of the large castings for the battleship Texas, poured on Saturday at the Richmond Locomotive and Machine Works, has been taken from the mould and found to be perfect. This is the second of the two to be used in the construction of the battleship.

The diameter of the casting is seven feet, and 4,100 pounds of brass were used in it. This casting is as large as any that can be cast in America, and in the execution the work could not be surpassed by any foundry here or abroad.

Not a Candidate.—Mr. George Watt, recently mentioned in THE TIMES as a candidate for Henrico for the House of Delegates, yesterday notified Mr. C. H. Hinton, chairman of the Democratic county committee, that he would decline to enter the contest, thus leaving Mr. George D. Carter the only candidate in the field.
